Stocks creeps higher, buoyed by VCB, VHM

The VN-Index opened higher on Wednesday and traded in positive territory for most of the session amid selling pressure created by Wall Street's continued weakness. The VN-Index closed up 0.1% to 1,334.4, continuing its momentum against global economic headwinds. Liquidity stayed roughly the same, with total trading value increasing 1.9% to VND21.9tn (USD857mn). The HNX-Index rose 0.5% to 241.9.

On the sector level, Real Estate (+1.3%), Industrial Goods & Services (+0.9%) and Health Care (+0.5%) led gainers today whereas Basic Resources (-1.8%), Technology (-1.2%) and Chemicals (-1.0%) fell.

VCB (+3.1%) and VHM (+3.2%) jumped and enjoyed outsized contributions to today's performance due to their large market capitalizations. VCB reached a record high amid massive trading volume after announcing stock dividends, solidifying its position as the bank with the biggest registered capital. Meanwhile, VHM has surged ~25% since mid-February as investors anticipate the firm will officially launch Vinhomes Wonder City, a 133-hectare project located near Hanoi's central business district, next month.

Foreign investors net sold today, with a net selling value of VND836.4bn (USD32.7mn). Selling momentum focused on FPT (VND297.9bn, USD11.6mn), GMD (VND119.4bn, USD4.6mn), and VCB (VND86.5bn, USD3.4mn). In contrast, they bought VHM (VND151.3bn, USD5.9mn), VIC (VND98.9bn, USD3.9mn), and VND (VND79.6bn, USD3.1mn).

Today's top gainers included VCB (+3.1%), VHM (+3.2%) and VIC (+1.7%), while top laggards included BID (-1.2%), GVR (-1.8%) and FPT (-1.2%).

Macro NoteWorld Bank issues upward revision to Vietnam's 2024 GDP growth forecast

The World Bank today unveiled its March 2025 Vietnam Economic Update, projecting GDP growth of 6.8% in 2025 and 6.5% in 2026, upward revisions of 0.2% and 0.1% respectively, from January's estimates. During the report's presentation, the World Bank Lead Economist also addressed his opinions on the ambitious 8% GDP growth target for 2025. To be specific, he highlighted that key prerequisites for robust growth this year include a favorable global environment with robust demand from major trading partners, such as the US and Europe, and stable global interest rates. Domestically, enhanced fiscal policy is crucial, emphasizing not only increased public investment disbursement but also improved investment quality.

Overall, VNDirect Research's 7.3% GDP growth forecast for this year is based on the fact that in contrast to 2024, where external factors like trade and FDI were primary growth drivers, the 2025's 8% GDP target is contingent upon the strengthening of domestic demand, particularly retail sales and public investment momentum.

Ownership

Vietnam Rubber Group (GVR)	66.6%
Others	33.4%

Business Description

PHR is the third-largest natural rubber producer with plantations of 13,900ha in Vietnam and 8,000ha in Cambodia. PHR aims to convert more than 4,000ha of rubber land bank into industrial parks in Binh Duong to capture the growing demand for Vietnamese industrial parks triggered by FDI inflow into Vietnam.

Update Reports

PHR - Strong growth but valuation appears fair – HOLD

- We downgrade our rating to HOLD with 0.6% upside and a 4.6% dividend yield. We increase our TP by 1.6% while the share price has increased by 12.3% since our last report.
- The main drivers of our change in TP are WACC revision, higher rubber selling price forecasts and adjusting the land rental payment timeline for the NTC3 project.
- Our target price implies a FY25 P/B of 2.2x, in line with the peer blended median of 2.3x but higher than its average trailing five-year P/B of over 2.0x.

Financial Highlights

- FY24 revenue rose 20.9% YoY to VND1.6tn (USD64mn) thanks to rising rubber selling prices. However, FY24 NP dropped 24.2% YoY to VND469bn (USD18mn) mainly due to a lack of land compensation.
- We expect FY25 revenue and NP to rise 20.8%/21.2% YoY to VND2.0tn/VND569bn (USD77/22mn) on rubber and IP segment growth

Investment Thesis

Rubber revenue to grow on elevated price and improved volume

We expect PHR's ASP to rise 11.3% YoY in 2025, in line with the global rubber price trend, driven by: 1) a prolonged supply shortage due to heavy rains and floods in major producing countries during peak season in 2024; and 2) EU manufacturers may accelerate rubber imports in 2H25 ahead of the EU Deforestation Regulation taking effect in December 2025. In addition, as China auto sales are expected to grow amid steady rubber prices that may bolster imported rubber demand, we expect PHR's consumption volume to rise 8.8% YoY to 30.9 million tons in 2025. Thus, we forecast rubber revenue to grow 21.0% YoY.

Industrial property segment enters a rapid growth phase

As NTC has paid land rental fees for the Nam Tan Uyen expansion phase 2, we expect this IP to begin land handovers from 4Q25, pushing NTC's NP to grow 20.2%/64.8% YoY in FY25-26. With Tan Lap I IP, we expect PHR to complete legal procedures and put this IP into operation by the end of 2026, boosting IP revenue to surge 143.3% YoY in 2026. For VSIP III IP, leasing activity remains relatively positive. We expect VSIP to hand over 15ha/30ha in 2025-26 vs ~10ha in 2024.

Potential compensation from the Bac Tan Uyen 1 IP project

On February 12, 2025, the Bac Tan Uyen 1 IP with a total area of 786ha, developed by THACO, received approval for its 1/5000 master plan. We expect PHR may receive significant compensation from this project when THACO proceeds with land clearance, as we believe that a large portion of Bac Tan Uyen 1 IP is currently PHR's rubber land.

Positive outlook already priced in

PHR's stock price surged recently on expectation of the potential compensation gain from the Bac Tan Uyen 1 project and a positive outlook driven by rising rubber prices. PHR now trades at a P/B of 2.3x, in line with the blended peer median (2.3x) but higher than its average trailing five-year P/B of 2.0x. We believe the current price reflects a fair valuation.

Business Description

Dat Xanh Group Joint Stock Company is a real estate development company. The Company develops and constructs trade centers, office buildings, apartments, resorts, villas, and hotels, as well as providing property management, brokerage, and leasing services.

Update Reports

DXG - Easing cash flow challenges – HOLD

- We maintain our HOLD rating with 10.8% upside and a 0.0% dividend yield. We slightly decrease our TP by 0.5% while the stock price has increased 3.3% since our last report.
- The main drivers of our recommendation are the market and pre-sales recovery outlook but with management-related risks, and an adjustment to our profit forecast.
- The current P/B ratio of 1.1x is lower than its peers and fully reflects DXG's outlook for FY25-26. We decrease the discount to 15% from 25%, thanks to positive legal movements of DXG's project, but it still faces risks.

Financial Highlights

- 2024 NP increased 47% YoY to VND253bn (USD9.9mn) thanks to a recovery of the brokerage segment, as 2024 brokerage revenue increased 98% YoY to VND1.2tn (USD47mn).
- Cash flow risks persist as OCF remained at negative VND1.3tn (- USD52mn) in 2024, despite DXG recording positive net profit for the last two years.
- SG&A stayed stable in 2024, increasing by only 16% YoY to VND1.1tn (USD44.3mn) while 2024 revenue increased by 27% YoY.

Investment Thesis

DXH Riverside, Gem Sky World relaunch to boost pre-sales value

After a delay of over six years since 2018, the Datxanhomes Riverside project will restart construction in 1Q25 and relaunch in 2H25. We expect this project to bring in significant handover revenue for DXG in 2027-2030. In addition, the Gem Sky World (GSW) project, with positive legal changes and improved provincial market sentiment, will be relaunched, and it is expected to be the main source of property revenue for DXG in 2025-2026.

Diversification of product supply in the upcoming period

In addition to the two projects that will be restarted next year, GSW and DXH Riverside, DXG is continuing to complete a series of mid-range apartment projects in Binh Duong province for deployment in coming years, which will help strengthen DXG's project pipeline. These include the Opal Luxury project (3,400 units, 8.6 hectares), DXH Park View (6,800 units, 5.1 hectares), DXH Park City (6,900 units, 10.5 hectares), and Opal City View (1,583 units, 1.0 hectares).

Real estate brokerage arm of subsidiary demonstrates clear recovery

The brokerage segment of subsidiary DXS (55.9% owned by DXG) in 2024 enjoyed a robust recovery, nearly doubling compared to the previous year, thanks to the market's obvious rebound. In 2025-2026, in addition to real estate revenue, we expect brokerage segment to continue maintaining its recovery momentum, contributing over 30% to total revenue.

Successful capital Issuance provides crucial funds for DXG

DXG successfully offered more than 150 million shares to existing shareholders, raising VND1.8tn (USD70mn). These proceeds will help DXG settle maturing debt, interest obligations and facilitate a complete financial restructuring and preparation for new investment plans in the coming period.
